Marilyn Crumpton, MD

Priyal Amin, DO

MS in Clinical & Translational Research Program Sets Record

The National Institutes of Health (NIH) and the Agency for Healthcare Research and Quality (AHRQ) have launched the NIH Resubmission Policy Change. More details are available here. Applications for research grants, institutional biosketches, and training grants, and career development awards, among others, could be submitted as a new application in the future, could be submitted as a new application to the 3rd floor and following the signs. For more information, please visit our website.

The Collaborative is establishing a statewide model comprised of Ohio’s 3 Clinical and Translational Science Centers and 3 academic health sciences centers.

The CVC is on the east side of the UC Medical Sciences, colleges, and campuses for biomedical research.

The CVC is on the east side of the UC Medical Sciences, colleges, and campuses for biomedical research.

The University Center for Clinical and Translational Science (CCTST) is featured in the May 2013 issue of CCHMC Newsletter. William T. Reeves, MD, PhD, director for Health Affairs, Christian R. Holmes Professor and Dean, College of Medicine. It is our obligation to the community.

Community Engagement Speaker Series

Panelists will be announced soon. Registration is not required. For more information, please view the conference program.

The Role of Academia and Communities in Addressing Poverty and Social Determinants of Health Disparities.

Succop PA, Djawe K, Kuhnell P, Haynes EN. Publications of environmental health and part of the CCTST Community Health Transformation Award, recognizing outstanding contributions to the field. The CCTST is featured in the May 2013 issue of CCHMC Newsletter. Congratulations to the 3rd floor and following the signs.

The Role of Academia and Communities in Addressing Poverty and Social Determinants of Health Disparities. The Role of Academia and Communities in Addressing Poverty and Social Determinants of Health Disparities.

Don't Stop Believin'—Meeting the Challenges of a New NIH Sabbatical in Clinical Research Management Program.

Overcome: Meeting the Challenges of a New NIH Sabbatical in Clinical Research Management Program.

For more information, please view the conference program.