Events

CCTST Grand Rounds on Appalachian Health Feb. 12
Join us for the next CCTST Grand Rounds, Friday February 12, 11:15 AM to Noon at the UC Medical Sciences Building (MSB). Lunch is available to CCTST members (free). Additional details on Appalachian health opportunities compiled by the UC Foundation can be found here. Register online. For more information, contact Brieanne Altenhoven, CCTST Coordinator, at altenbro3@uc.edu or (513) 558-1294.

CCTST Grand Rounds on Appalachian Health Feb. 20, 12 PM
CCTST Grand Rounds on Appalachian Health is set for Wednesday, February 20, 12:00 PM to 1:00 PM in MSB 612. The Appalachian Translational Genomics and Ethics Center, University of California, San Francisco will present "Evolution of Contraception," with Nanhua Zhang, PhD, research professor, biostatistics and epidemiology, CCHMC. Rieveschl Auditorium, CCHMC. 1.5 CE credit available.

Pilot and Innovation Research Program Feb. 3
Applications are being accepted for the Pilot and Innovation Research Program (PIRP). PIRP is a mechanism to support early investigations by investigators, who may be early-career faculty members, or who are not currently supported by extramural funding. The PIRP application is due Feb. 18. For more information, contact Bettie Durant, CCTST Program Manager, at durantbh@uc.edu or (513) 558-1900.

Regional New forFaculty and Ethics Conference
Registration is open for the 13th annual Biomedical Research and Ethics Conference on Friday, May 21, 2010. Contact the UC Foundation at (513) 558-3276 or foundation@uc.edu for more information.

UCLA/Knock Out Meeting Feb. 11
The UCLA/Knock Out Meeting on Friday, February 11, 2010 is from 5:00-7:00 PM in Room 621 of the UC Medical Sciences Building, University of Cincinnati. For more information, contact Charlie Newcomb, CCTST Coordinator, at newcombo@uc.edu (513) 558-1298.

CCHMC Location S, Suite 10.300, ML 11028
The CCTST offers courses for both new and experienced REDCap users each month. A summary of CCTST programs is viewed here. An archive of past BERD seminar presentation slides can be found here. For more information, see the new web page! Questions or comments? Contact Lori Brunner, CCTST Program Manager, at brunnerl@uc.edu or (513) 558-1356.

CCHMC Location S, Suite 10.300, ML 11028
The CCTST offers courses for both new and experienced REDCap users each month. A summary of CCTST programs is viewed here. An archive of past BERD seminar presentation slides can be found here. For more information, see the new web page! Questions or comments? Contact Lori Brunner, CCTST Program Manager, at brunnerl@uc.edu or (513) 558-1356.

CCHMC Location S, Suite 10.300, ML 11028
The CCTST offers courses for both new and experienced REDCap users each month. A summary of CCTST programs is viewed here. An archive of past BERD seminar presentation slides can be found here. For more information, see the new web page! Questions or comments? Contact Lori Brunner, CCTST Program Manager, at brunnerl@uc.edu or (513) 558-1356.

Some Columbus-area events may be affected by severe weather. Please check with specific event contacts or visit their respective websites for updates.

Events charge

NewsBrief

February 2010

CCHMC Location S, Suite 10.300, ML 11028
The CCTST offers courses for both new and experienced REDCap users each month. A summary of CCTST programs is viewed here. An archive of past BERD seminar presentation slides can be found here. For more information, see the new web page! Questions or comments? Contact Lori Brunner, CCTST Program Manager, at brunnerl@uc.edu or (513) 558-1356.

CCHMC Location S, Suite 10.300, ML 11028
The CCTST offers courses for both new and experienced REDCap users each month. A summary of CCTST programs is viewed here. An archive of past BERD seminar presentation slides can be found here. For more information, see the new web page! Questions or comments? Contact Lori Brunner, CCTST Program Manager, at brunnerl@uc.edu or (513) 558-1356.

CCHMC Location S, Suite 10.300, ML 11028
The CCTST offers courses for both new and experienced REDCap users each month. A summary of CCTST programs is viewed here. An archive of past BERD seminar presentation slides can be found here. For more information, see the new web page! Questions or comments? Contact Lori Brunner, CCTST Program Manager, at brunnerl@uc.edu or (513) 558-1356.

Some Columbus-area events may be affected by severe weather. Please check with specific event contacts or visit their respective websites for updates.

Research Week May 4
Jointly sponsored by UC, UC Health, CCHMC and the VAMC, Research Week May 4-8 is a major showcase of our biomedical research. Contact Brieanne Altenhoven, CCTST Coordinator, at altenbro3@uc.edu or (513) 558-1294.

CCHMC Location S, Suite 10.300, ML 11028
The CCTST offers courses for both new and experienced REDCap users each month. A summary of CCTST programs is viewed here. An archive of past BERD seminar presentation slides can be found here. For more information, see the new web page! Questions or comments? Contact Lori Brunner, CCTST Program Manager, at brunnerl@uc.edu or (513) 558-1356.

CCHMC Location S, Suite 10.300, ML 11028
The CCTST offers courses for both new and experienced REDCap users each month. A summary of CCTST programs is viewed here. An archive of past BERD seminar presentation slides can be found here. For more information, see the new web page! Questions or comments? Contact Lori Brunner, CCTST Program Manager, at brunnerl@uc.edu or (513) 558-1356.

Some Columbus-area events may be affected by severe weather. Please check with specific event contacts or visit their respective websites for updates.

Research Week May 4
Jointly sponsored by UC, UC Health, CCHMC and the VAMC, Research Week May 4-8 is a major showcase of our biomedical research. Contact Brieanne Altenhoven, CCTST Coordinator, at altenbro3@uc.edu or (513) 558-1294.

CCHMC Location S, Suite 10.300, ML 11028
The CCTST offers courses for both new and experienced REDCap users each month. A summary of CCTST programs is viewed here. An archive of past BERD seminar presentation slides can be found here. For more information, see the new web page! Questions or comments? Contact Lori Brunner, CCTST Program Manager, at brunnerl@uc.edu or (513) 558-1356.

CCHMC Location S, Suite 10.300, ML 11028
The CCTST offers courses for both new and experienced REDCap users each month. A summary of CCTST programs is viewed here. An archive of past BERD seminar presentation slides can be found here. For more information, see the new web page! Questions or comments? Contact Lori Brunner, CCTST Program Manager, at brunnerl@uc.edu or (513) 558-1356.

Some Columbus-area events may be affected by severe weather. Please check with specific event contacts or visit their respective websites for updates.

Research Week May 4
Jointly sponsored by UC, UC Health, CCHMC and the VAMC, Research Week May 4-8 is a major showcase of our biomedical research. Contact Brieanne Altenhoven, CCTST Coordinator, at altenbro3@uc.edu or (513) 558-1294.

CCHMC Location S, Suite 10.300, ML 11028
The CCTST offers courses for both new and experienced REDCap users each month. A summary of CCTST programs is viewed here. An archive of past BERD seminar presentation slides can be found here. For more information, see the new web page! Questions or comments? Contact Lori Brunner, CCTST Program Manager, at brunnerl@uc.edu or (513) 558-1356.

CCHMC Location S, Suite 10.300, ML 11028
The CCTST offers courses for both new and experienced REDCap users each month. A summary of CCTST programs is viewed here. An archive of past BERD seminar presentation slides can be found here. For more information, see the new web page! Questions or comments? Contact Lori Brunner, CCTST Program Manager, at brunnerl@uc.edu or (513) 558-1356.

Some Columbus-area events may be affected by severe weather. Please check with specific event contacts or visit their respective websites for updates.

Research Week May 4
Jointly sponsored by UC, UC Health, CCHMC and the VAMC, Research Week May 4-8 is a major showcase of our biomedical research. Contact Brieanne Altenhoven, CCTST Coordinator, at altenbro3@uc.edu or (513) 558-1294.

CCHMC Location S, Suite 10.300, ML 11028
The CCTST offers courses for both new and experienced REDCap users each month. A summary of CCTST programs is viewed here. An archive of past BERD seminar presentation slides can be found here. For more information, see the new web page! Questions or comments? Contact Lori Brunner, CCTST Program Manager, at brunnerl@uc.edu or (513) 558-1356.

CCHMC Location S, Suite 10.300, ML 11028
The CCTST offers courses for both new and experienced REDCap users each month. A summary of CCTST programs is viewed here. An archive of past BERD seminar presentation slides can be found here. For more information, see the new web page! Questions or comments? Contact Lori Brunner, CCTST Program Manager, at brunnerl@uc.edu or (513) 558-1356.

Some Columbus-area events may be affected by severe weather. Please check with specific event contacts or visit their respective websites for updates.

Research Week May 4
Jointly sponsored by UC, UC Health, CCHMC and the VAMC, Research Week May 4-8 is a major showcase of our biomedical research. Contact Brieanne Altenhoven, CCTST Coordinator, at altenbro3@uc.edu or (513) 558-1294.

CCHMC Location S, Suite 10.300, ML 11028
The CCTST offers courses for both new and experienced REDCap users each month. A summary of CCTST programs is viewed here. An archive of past BERD seminar presentation slides can be found here. For more information, see the new web page! Questions or comments? Contact Lori Brunner, CCTST Program Manager, at brunnerl@uc.edu or (513) 558-1356.

CCHMC Location S, Suite 10.300, ML 11028
The CCTST offers courses for both new and experienced REDCap users each month. A summary of CCTST programs is viewed here. An archive of past BERD seminar presentation slides can be found here. For more information, see the new web page! Questions or comments? Contact Lori Brunner, CCTST Program Manager, at brunnerl@uc.edu or (513) 558-1356.

Some Columbus-area events may be affected by severe weather. Please check with specific event contacts or visit their respective websites for updates.