The Community Leaders Institute (CLI) is an 8-session leadership development training program offered over 5 weeks in February – March to enhance community research and capacity building competencies in community leaders and physicians. Training areas include grant writing, accessing public datasets, program evaluation, and design thinking.

The Community Health Grant (CHG) program offers grants of up to $20,000 for translational research conducted by partnerships consisting of both academic and community organizations that improve outcomes in children, adults, and/or the community.

The Partnership Development Grant (PDG) program offers grants of up to $5,000 focused on the development or strengthening of collaborations between community and academic partners.
