Hierarchy of Collaboration

Transdisciplinary

Researchers integrate and also transcend disciplinary approaches to generate fundamentally new conceptual frameworks, theories, models, and applications.

Interdisciplinary

Researchers integrate “information, data, techniques, tools, perspectives, concepts, and/or theories from two or more disciplines…to advance fundamental understanding or to solve problems.” (NAS, NAE, and IOM, 2005, p.26)

Multidisciplinary

Researchers from different disciplines each make separate contributions in an additive way.

Unidisciplinary

Researchers from a single discipline work together to address a common problem.
Transdisciplinarity

1. Addresses complexity and fragmentation of knowledge
2. Non-linear and reflexive in approach to problems
3. Intercommunicative and intersubjective in process
4. Pragmatic and action-oriented
Presentations

1. LiveWell Collaborative
2. UC Design, Architecture, Art, and Planning (DAAP)
3. UC College of Nursing and Maple Knoll Village
4. UC College of Allied Health Sciences

Discussion

• Questions of CIS or Presenters
• Collaboration ideas
• Thoughts on how to organize those interested in Aging
• Other ongoing initiatives on Aging
Follow-up by CIS

The CIS will….

1. Provide slides and discussion points from this meeting
2. Compile a list of attendees and others interested in Aging
3. Convene a follow-up meeting to develop next steps with grant applications, interest groups, other events or activities
4. Other ideas of how CIS can help
Suggestions for future virtual meetings
Join The Collaboration Network
